In an attempt to keep faculty informed of the activities of their colleagues, the Office of College Relations plans to publish these Faculty Notes once each semester. Items of interest should be forwarded to the College news bureau in the Office of College Relations.

MEETINGS, SPEECHES, AWARDS, APPOINTMENTS AND GRANTS

Dr. Adnan Abu-Ghazaleh, professor of history, addressed the Seventh Convention on Middle East Studies at the University of Wisconsin.

Sandra Clark, assistant professor of history, presented a paper, "Ashburton's Capitulation," to the Missouri Valley Historical Conference in Omaha.

Dr. Stuart Baum, associate professor of chemistry, presented a paper, "Breathing Life into Organic Chemistry," to a conference at College Ahunistic in Montreal.

Dr. Thomas Braga, assistant professor of French, travelled to California State College in San Bernadino to deliver the Moliere Tricentenary Lecture.

Dr. Ernest Coons, coordinator of outdoor education, authored a proposal which resulted in a $20,000 grant from the Board of Cooperative Educational Services of Clinton, Essex, Warren and Washington Counties. The grant will fund a study of the learning problems of rural children.

Dr. Charles Diggs, assistant professor of communications, read a paper on cleft-palate children to the local chapter of the National Speech and Hearing Society.

Dr. David Glaser, associate professor of history, is a visiting Fulbright lecturer in India this year.

Dr. William Hartnett, chairman of the mathematics department, lectured in Romania under the sponsorship of the National Academy of Science.

Dr. Thomas Henriksen, associate professor of history, was elected to serve as secretary to the steering committee for the New York African Studies Association at the founding meeting.

Dr. Hans Hirsch, professor of history, attended the ceremonies for the installation of Albert Abraham Michalson in the Hall of Fame of Great Americans at NYU.

Dr. Ralph Hunkins, associate professor of education, was made editorial associate of the new journal, Foundational Studies.

Dr. Charles Kline, chairman of the department of communications and theatre, was elected president of the SUNY Theater Association.

Dr. Eugene Link, professor of history, read a paper on Dr. Harry Ward at the Duquesne Forum.

Dr. Charles Mitchell, associate professor of education, spoke on science teaching techniques at the annual meeting of the National Science Teachers in Detroit.

Dr. Dixon Miyauchi, professor of history, is preparing "A Comparative Study of the Dynamics of Pre-Industrial Japan and of Britain Beginning With Primitive Times" in cooperation with researchers in Canada, England and Wales.

Albert Montanaro, associate professor of communications, was named tournament director for the National Forensic Championships Tournament to be held here at Plattsburgh State in April.

Dr. James Olmsted, associate professor of earth sciences, recently studied volcanic rocks in Hawaii.

William Robbins, associate professor of art, had his drawing, "Susan," accepted by the jury of the 15th Annual National Exhibition of Prints and Drawings.

Dr. Leonard Schiff, director of health services, received the Ruth E. Boynton Award for outstanding contributions to the American College Health Association.

Dr. Benjamin Sevitch, assistant professor of communications, was appointed Clinton County Coordinator for the Environmental Planning Lobby, the largest environmentalist group in the state.

Dr. Noel Smith, professor of psychology, delivered a lecture on "The Social and Psychological Development of Ancient Egypt" at Lynchburg College in Virginia.

Dr. Ronald Tallman, associate professor of history, was named associate editor of the American Review of Canadian Studies.

Dr. J. Stallard Waterhouse, professor of biology, was appointed an advisory member of of the Insect Surveys and Losses Committee of the Entomological Society of America.

Dr. Anne Zielinski, associate professor of art, presented a paper on medieval sculpture to the Eighth Conference on Medieval Studies at Western Michigan University.

Dr. Stuart Voss, assistant professor of history, will present a paper on nineteenth century Mexico to the Southwestern Council for Latin American Studies in February.

PUBLICATIONS

Dr. Herman Doh, professor of English, published "First Aid for the Fragment" in Elementary English and "Collective Bargaining in SUNY: The Story of the Senate Professional Association" in Journal of the College and University Personnel Association.

Dr. Ernest Coons, coordinator of outdoor education, edited Outdoor Education for Emotionally Handicapped Children, published by ERIC Press and abstracted in Exceptional Child Education Abstract.

Dr. Robert Ellsworth, professor of chemistry, published "Synthesis of Magnesium-Protoporphyrin IX in Vitro" in Photosynthetica; "The Reduction of Vinyl Side-Chain of Mg-Protoporphyrin IX Monomethyl Ester in Vitro" in Biochimica et Biophysica Acta; and "The Inability of Crude Homogenates of Etiolated Wheat Seedlings Containing Protochlorophyllase to Convert ^{14}C -Protochlorophyllide to ^{14}C -Protochlorophyll" in Photosynthetica.

Dr. Patrick Fleury, associate professor of mathematics, published "Symmetric Homology Over Rings Containing the Rationals" in Proceedings of the American Mathematical Society.

Dr. Gerhard Greundling, associate professor of biology, published "Toxicity of Lead Nitrate to Algae" in Water, Air and Soil Pollution.

Dr. Gerald Kokoszka, professor of chemistry, published "Electron Paramagnetic Resonance Studies of Metal-Metal Interaction in Manganese (II) Complexes, The 10/3 Effect" in Journal of the Chemistry Society and "EPR Frequency Dependent Linewidths in Mixed Valence Complexes, The 10/3 Effect" in Chemical Physics Letters.

Dr. Nicholas Mammano, associate professor of chemistry, published "Differential Thermal Analysis of Metal-Ammonia Solutions" in Solid State Chemistry.

Dr. Daniel Lee, associate professor of biology, published "Swelling in Bean Shoot Mitochondria Induced by a Series of Potassium Salts of Organic Anions" in Physiologia Plantarum.

Dr. Tseh Yuan Li, assistant professor of physics, published "The $^6\text{Li} (p,2p)^5\text{He}$ Reaction at 100 MeV" in Nuclear Physics.

Dr. Kenneth Loach, assistant professor of chemistry, published "A Modified Simon-Lewin Reaction: N-Nitrosamines As Intermediates in the Reaction of Secondary Amines with Nitroprusside and Acetaldehyde" in Analytical Letters.

Dr. Richard Moore, professor of biology, published "The Effect of Insulin upon the Sodium Pump in Frog Skeletal Muscle" in Journal of Physiology.

Dr. Ben Morreale, professor of history, authored A Few Virtuous Men, a novel published by Tundra Press and billed as "a literary thriller about 20th century Sicily."

Dr. John Riley, professor of mathematics, published "Maximum Quaternary Orders" in the Journal of Algebra.

PUBLICATIONS

George Abbe, professor of English and writer in residence, published the second volume of his autobiography, A Madness Of Compassion, this year, and his book, The Larks, was re-issued in paperback.

Dr. Carol Ames, assistant professor of English, published her article, "Fanny and Mrs. Norris: Poor Relations in Mansfield Park," in the autumn issue of The Dalhousie Review.

Julius Archibald, associate professor of computer science, published "On the Preparation of Computer Science Professionals in Academic Institutions" in American Federation of Information Processing Societies' Conference Proceedings.

Dr. Ernestos Argyres, associate professor of physics, published articles recently in Nuovo Cimento and in Annals of Physics.

Dr. Robert Chu, associate professor of physics, published a research article in Nuovo Cimento recently.

Dr. Peter Corodimas, associate professor of English, published his story, "The Telephone Call," in the summer issue of North American Review.

Dr. Herman Doh, professor of English, and Dr. Stanley Johnson, professor of psychology, co-authored "Collective Bargaining in SUNY: The Experience of 50 Local SPA Leaders During the First Year" in Journal of the College and University Personnel Association.

Dr. Robert Ellsworth, professor of chemistry, published "A Gas Chromatographic Spectrometric Analysis of Estrifying Alcohols in Pumpkin Seed Protochlorophylls" in Analytical Biochemistry.

Dr. Peter Gore, assistant professor of environmental science, published "Voluntarism in Environmental Action" in the autumn issue of Human Ecology Forum.

Dr. Charles Herod, director of Afro-American studies, has written a book-length critique of Friedrich Engels' ideas of "nations with a history" and "nations without a history" which will be released in 1975 by Dutch publisher Nijhoff's Boekhandel in an English language edition.

Dr. Gerald Kokoszka, professor of chemistry, has recently published articles on magnetism in metal compounds in Physics Letter, Journal of Inorganic and Nuclear Chemistry, and American Mineralogist.

Dr. John Lewis, associate professor of physics, published "Evidence for Energy Band Trailing and Localization of States in Highly Disordered Crystalline GeTe" in Journal of Non-Crystalline Solids.

Dr. Roderick Logan, assistant professor of geography, authored Canada, The United States, And The Third Law Of The Sea Conference, published jointly by the C.D. Howe Research Institute and the National Planning Association in Washington.

Mrs. Roberta Merrens, who instructs non-credit courses in crocheting, will have four of her crochet designs published in the "Christmas Helps" issue of Family Circle Magazine.

Dr. Kissu Schin, associate professor of biological sciences, published "Degradation of Haemoglobin in Chironomus During Metamorphosis" in Journal of Insect Physiology.

Dr. Paul Szydluk, professor of physics, published research articles recently Physics Letters and Physical Review A.

SPEECHES, RESEARCH GRANTS, PUBLIC SERVICE

Dr. Carol Ames and Dr. Charles Rammelkamp, assistant professors of English, will lead a discussion seminar on "The Works of Victoria Sackville-West and Harold Nicholson" at the National Convention of the Modern Language Association in New York City, December 27.

Dr. Donald Bogucki, associate professor of geography, and Dr. Gerhard Gruending, associate professor of biological sciences, have been granted $75,000 by the U.S. Department of the Interior to conduct a three-year study of the Lake Champlain wetlands.

Dr. Ernest M. Coons, director of outdoor education, made three lecture-and-slide-show presentations to the 7th Annual Conference of the New York State Outdoor Education Association at Margaretville in October.

William Dempsey, assistant to the president for analytical studies and long-range planning, gave talks this year on management information systems in higher education at the New York State Association of Junior Colleges' Annual Conference, at Syracuse University, at the University of Massachusetts, and at SUNY Buffalo.

Dr. Robert Ellsworth, professor of chemistry, has been awarded a $50,000 grant from the National Institute of Health for a two-year research study of chlorophyllase, an enzyme believed to control the biosynthesis of chlorophyll; he has also been invited to present a paper on his research to the Royal Society in London this February.

Dr. Peter Gore, assistant professor of environmental science has received a grant from the federal Rural Development Program to conduct an inventory of social services available in Clinton County.

Dr. Donald Haight, assistant professor of education, addressed the New York Personnel and Guidance Association in Rochester on legislative issues in November; at a February workshop in Washington he will work with Senators and Congressmen on several legislative bills affecting education and counseling.

Dr. Leon Harris, assistant professor of biological sciences, spoke on "Physiological Regulatory Alternatives with Particular Reference to the Kidney" at the Annual Conference on Engineering, Medicine and Biology, October 6-10.

Dr. Kenneth Hoeltzel, associate professor of education, has been selected as chairman of a planning committee for Career Education Workshops for high school teachers to be held on eight New York State campuses this summer.

Dr. Gerald Kokoszka, professor of chemistry, addressed a NATO Advanced Study Institute on one-dimensional systems of magnetism this summer in Munich.

Joseph Jastrab, director of athletics, has been appointed to a three-year term on the administrative committee of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference.

Dr. Mark Lapping, associate professor of environmental science, has been awarded a grant by the federal Rural Development Program for an inventory of the natural resource base of Clinton County.

Dr. Roderick Logan, assistant professor of geography, was awarded a Donner Foundation grant to study eastern Canada's energy crisis this summer. This fall he addressed the New England and St. Lawrence Valley Geographical Society, The Canadian-American Committee, and the Joint Canadian and U.S. Chambers of Commerce Committee.

Dr. Roy Malpass, associate professor of behavioral science, has been appointed to the editorial advisory board of the Journal of Cross-Cultural Psychology as consulting editor.

Dr. Matthew Merrens, assistant professor of psychology, has received a $1,095 S&H Foundation grant to sponsor a series of lectures examining behavior modification.

Mrs. Jane Minnier, financial aids officer, will have her biography included in the ninth edition of the Who's Who Of American Women for 1975-76.

Dr. Phillip Reines, associate professor of communication arts, has been elected chairman of the Coordinating League for Environmental Action and Renewal (CLEAR), which sponsors environmental action programs in the North Country.

Dr. Satish Saroj, director of the Plattsburgh State program which will train teachers of learning-handicapped children, was elected to a three-year term as president of the International Federation of Learning Disabilities Professionals at its first congress in Amsterdam.

Dr. Nicholas Troisi, dean of general and continuing education, has received the James Allen Memorial Award, for "outstanding contributions to the profession of educational administration in the State of New York," from the School Administrators Association.

Dr. Esther Westendorf, associate professor of education, is the new president-elect of the New York State Reading Association.

ART EXHIBITED

Richard M. Mikkelson and William E. Robbins of the art department faculty showed their work in an exhibit entitled "Three Figurative Artists" which was displayed this semester at St. Lawrence College of Applied Arts and Technology in Kingston, Ontario.

AWARDS, SPEECHES, APPOINTMENTS, GRANTS

Dr. George Angell, President of the College, was recently honored by the Plattsburgh Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa for "sincere dedication to education through research, service and leadership," and was given the Liberty Bell Award for "community service and respect for government by law" at the annual dinner meeting of the Clinton County Bar Association.

Dr. Gary Brannigan, assistant professor of psychology, recently presented a paper, "Outer-directedness in the decision-making of high and low approval motivated children," at the Eastern Psychological Association in Philadelphia.

Drs. Bruce Butterfield, Charles Kline, Ben Morreale and Calvin Veltman received grants from the Canadian Studies Faculty for six-month post-doctoral study projects in Canadian Affairs.

Miss Florence Callahan and Dr. Kenneth Hoeltzel will be included in the 1974-75 edition of Outstanding Educators of America, an awards volume honoring excellence among professors of education.

Dennis DeLong, instructor of political science, conducted a four-week course this semester for newly elected local officials. The course was sponsored by the Clinton County Legislature.

Paul Fischer, assistant professor of nursing, travelled to the Soviet Union during April on a study tour organized by the New York State Association of Nurses.

Dr. Donald Haight, assistant professor of education, attended a workshop on legislation in Washington this January for the North Atlantic States Branch of the American Personnel and Guidance Association.

Dr. Kenneth Hoeltzel, associate professor of education, gave talks on counseling to teachers at several local schools this semester: Saranac Central, Ticonderoga, Beekmantown, Montreal's St. Pius X, and Beaconsfield High School in Quebec.

Dr. John Hunt, professor of education, has become a faculty research associate of the Program of Eastern African Studies at Syracuse University, which will involve him in publishing activities, in colloquia, and in a summer seminar program that comprises six weeks of study and travel in Africa.

Dr. Stanley Johnson, professor of psychology, has been appointed to the editorial board of a new professional journal, School Psychology Monographs. With Dr. Robert Morasky, associate professor of psychology, Johnson led a symposium on "Strategies for Parent-Teacher Workshops" at a conference in Houston in March.

Dr. Gerald Kokoszka, professor of chemistry, will present a paper on "Electron Spin Resonance Studies in Low-Dimensional Systems" this summer in Munich at a NATO Advanced Study Institute attended by scientists from around the world.

Dr. Mark Lapping, of the environmental science faculty, has been appointed consultant to the National Science Foundation's student-originated studies program; made associate editor of the Journal of Urban History; and asked to present his paper, "Conceptualizing Impacts on the Environment," to a conference at Farleigh Dickinson University.

Dr. Eugene Link will lecture on American Social History as a visiting fellow at Hull, England during the academic year 1974-75.

Ms. Katherine Lochridge, director of the fine arts gallery, was awarded a scholarship by the National Endowment for the Arts, funding her attendance at a seminar on the legal problems of museums and galleries this March in Washington.

Dr. Ben Morreale appeared on CBC's "Daybreak" regarding his forthcoming book on immigration history and was recently interviewed by La Presse of Montreal and the Montreal Star concerning his novel, A Few Virtuous Men.

Douglas Skopp, assistant professor of history, conducted a seminar on 19th century primary education in Germany at the Center for European Affairs, Sir George Williams University this March.

David Truax, director of admissions, was elected to the Council of the Middle States Region of the College Entrance Examination Board in March.

Dr. Anne Ziellinski, associate professor of art, addressed the annual meeting of the College Art Association of America in Detroit this January. She spoke on the topic, "The Cloister Capitals at San Pedro and the Silos Masters."

PUBLICATIONS

Dr. Adnan Abu-Ghazaleh, professor of history, had his book, Arab Cultural Nationalism in Palestine During the British Mandate, published in Beirut, Lebanon by the Institute for Palestine Studies and the University of Lybia.

Dr. Ernestos Argyres, associate professor of physics, had his "Structure of Amplitudes of Neutral-Pion Photoproduction" published in Physical Review D.

Dr. Thomas Braga, assistant professor of French, published his poem "Ash Wednesday" in the Delta Epsilon Sigma Bulletin.

Dr. Robert Chu, assistant professor of physics, published an article on channel cross sections in Nuclear Physics.

Dr. Ralph Clark, professor of biology, published "Immersion Refractometric Analysis of Cultured Hyalophora cecropia Hemocytes" in Protoplasma.

Dr. Raney Eills, assistant professor of psychology, published "Effects of Pre- and Postresponse Shock on Discrimination Performances Using a Discrete-Trials Procedure" in the Journal of Experimental Psychology.

Dr. Thomas Harwood, assistant professor of psychology, published "Discriminating Test Scores on a Basis of Age and Sex" in the journal, New Guinea, and "Expressed Preferences for Information Seeking Behaviors and Their Relationship to Birth Order" in the Journal of Genetic Psychology.

Dr. Kenneth Hoeltzel, associate professor of education, will publish his short play, "Animal Farm Revisited," in a forthcoming issue of Impact, a professional magazine for counselors.

Dr. James Johnson, professor of psychology, published "Discrimination Training in Retardates in Advances in Behavior Therapy.

Dr. Gerald Kokoszka, professor of chemistry, has published a study of two-dimensional magnetic lattices in the Journal of Chemical Physics and he published "EPR of mixed valence complexes: Frequency and concentration dependent linewidths in hexaminechromium (III) chlorocuprates (I,II)" in the same journal.

Dr. William Krueger, associate professor of chemistry, published "Addition of Trimethyl Phosphite to B-Nitrostyrene" in the Journal of Organic Chemistry.

Dr. John Lewis, assistant professor of physics, and Dr. Arnold Rheingold, assistant professor of chemistry, published "Homocyclic Organoarsine Ladder Polymers" in Inorganic Chemistry. Lewis also published "Optical Properties and Energy Gap of GeTe from Reflectance Studies" in Physica Status Solidi.

Dr. Roy Malpass, associate professor of behavioral science, published "Verbal and Visual Training in Face Recognition" in Perception and Psychophysics.

Ronald Satryb, assistant dean of student affairs, has co-authored two articles with David W. Leslie of the University of Virginia. The two have published "Due Progress on Due Process? Some Observations" in the fall Journal of College Student Personnel, and "Collective Bargaining and the Management of Conflict: Proposed Research Directions" in the College and University Personnel Association Journal.

Dr. KI Ssu Schin, associate professor of biology, published "Studies of Programmed Salivary Gland Regression During Larval-Pupal Transformation in Chironomus Thummi" in Experimental Cell Research, and "Uptake of Homologous Haemolymph Protein by Salivary Glands of Chironomus Thummi" in the Journal of Insect Physiology.

Dr. Daniel Socolow, director of international studies, published "The Argentine Professorate: Occupational Insecurity and Political Interference" in the Comparative Education Review.

Dr. Edward Worthen, associate professor of Spanish, published "A Mexican Historian Comes Home" in the Journal of Church and State.

PUBLICATIONS

Dr. Ernestos N. Argyres, associate professor of physics, published "Structure of amplitudes of KN charge-exchange reactions" in the October 1974 issue of Physical Review D. His article "Bremsstrahlung Model for Hadron Production in Large Transverse Momentum" was published in Physics Letters.

Dr. Stuart J. Baum, associate professor of chemistry, coauthored the introductory chemistry textbook, Chemistry: A Life Science Approach, which was published this year by the Macmillan Publishing Company.

Dr. Thomas Braga, assistant professor of French and Portuguese, published his article "Madness in the Theater of Tristan L'Hermite" in the February 1975 issue of French Review. Dr. Braga's sonnet "Acoreana," written in Portuguese, was published in the June 5, 1975, issue of Portuguese Times.

Dr. Robert K. Ellsworth, professor of chemistry, published "Activity and Some Properties of Mg-4-ethyl-(4-desvinyl)-protoporphyrin IX Monomethyl Ester: NAD⁺ Oxidoreductase in Crude Homogenates for Etiolated Wheat Seedlings" in Photosynthetica 8. Photosynthetica 8 also published his article "The Reaction Mechanism of S-Adenosyl-L-Methionine: Magnesium Protoporphyrin IX Methyltransferase of Wheat," and Photosynthetica 9 published his work "Biosynthesis of Protochlorophyllide a From Mg-Protoporphyrin IX in Vitro."

Dr. Carl W. Englehart, professor of English, published the article "Howells' Editha: Toward Realism" in Americana Austriaca.

Hyman S. Freeman, professor of communications, published "A Report on Speech and Hearing" in Reports, the official publication of the New York State Speech Association.

Dr. Peter H. Gore, professor of sociology and environmental science, published the article "A Sociological Approach to the Problem of Water Pollution" in the University of Kentucky's Growth and Change magazine.

Dr. Gerhard K. Greundling, associate professor of biological sciences, published the article "Seasonal and Spatial Distribution of Phosphates, Nitrates, and Silicates in Lake Champlain" in Hydrobiologia.

Dr. C. Leon Harris, assistant professor of biology, published the article "Computerized Model of Kidney Regulation by Renin-Angiotensin" in The Physiology Teacher. His article, "An Axiomatic Interpretation of the Neo-Darwinian Theory of Evolution," was published in the 1975 Winter issue of Perspectives in Biology and Medicine.

Books I and II of Dr. William Hartnett's Principles of Modern Mathematics have been published in Spanish as part of the Biblioteca de Matematica Superior of Editorial Trillas, Mexico. His Foundations of Coding Theory was published in December, 1974, by D. Reidel Publishing Company, Dordrecht, Holland, as Volume One of the series "Episteme."

Dr. Thomas Henriksen, associate professor of history, published "African Intellectual Influence on Black Americans: The Role of Edward W. Blyden," in Phylon. His "End of Empire: Portugal's Collapse in Africa," was published in the May issue of Current History. Dr. Henriksen also reviewed two books on Pan-Africanism for the Journal of Modern African Studies.

Dr. Charles Herod, historian and coordinator of Afro-American Studies, has had a book describing Friedrich Engels' ideas of nations with a history and nations without a history published by Nijhoff's Bookhandel, a Dutch publisher.

Dr. Anton G. Jachim, associate professor of political science, has published the book Science Policy Making in the United States and The Batavia Accelerator.

Dr. Gerald Kokoszka, professor of chemistry, was coauthor (with two former students) of the article "EPR of Mixed Valence Complexes: Hexamine Cobalt (III) Chlorocuprates (I, II)" which appeared in the 1975 Journal of Inorganic Nuclear Chemistry.

Dr. Tseh Y. Li, associate professor of physics, published "Decay of ⁷⁵Kr" in the October 1974 issue of Il Nuovo Cimento.

Dr. Kenneth W. Loach, assistant professor of chemistry, published the article "A Numerical Identifier for the Chemical Elements, Expressing Their Periodic Relationships" in Volume 14 of the Journal of Chemical Documentation.

Dr. John L. Meyer, associate professor of communications, has been appointed editor of the New York State Speech Association's Reports. His first editorial was titled "Views on Purpose and Direction."

Dr. Gordon C. Pollard, associate professor of anthropology, published a book and an article. He co-authored the article "Archaeological Maize from Northern Chile" in the January issue of Botanical Museum Leaflets. His book Prehistory and Desert Adaptation in Northern Chile: The Ceramic Stage of the Middle Rio Loa Region, was published by the State University Press.

Drs. Tony Poveda and Edward Schaffer, both associate professors of sociology, have published their article "Positivism and Interactionism: Two Research Traditions in Criminology" in the D.C. Heath book Research in Criminology.

Dr. Paul P. Szydlik, professor of physics, published the article "Independent-particle-model study of the elastic scattering of low-energy electrons by positive ions" in The Physical Review A.

SPEECHES, RESEARCH GRANTS, PUBLIC SERVICE

Dr. Robert Chu, assistant professor of physics, has been appointed visiting scientist at McGill University.

Dr. Peter N. Corodimas, associate professor of English, received an $1,800 research fellowship from the Research Foundation of State University for a book of short fiction.

William Crosby, professor of art, was one of three jurors invited to judge paintings submitted to the international exhibition "Mainstreams 75" at Marietta College in Ohio. Mr. Crosby was also one of seven original photographers to exhibit in the show "Photo-Graphic Images" when it opened last spring in Lake Placid.

Dr. William Culver, assistant professor of political science, and Dr. Cornel Reinhart, assistant professor of history, received a SUNY Research Foundation grant-in-aid for $1,450 to support their study, "Life on the Periphery: Clinton County 1890 to Present."

Dr. Fouad El Taher, professor of economics and business administration, is on sabbatic leave in Arusha, Tanzania, serving a year's appointment as a United Nations' senior advisor in financial and management development.

Dr. Allan Everest, professor of history, received a $700 grant-in-aid from the SUNY Research Foundation to investigate "Moses Hazen, Canadian Refugees and the American Revolution."

Dr. Peter Gore, professor of sociology and environmental studies, delivered two papers at the annual meeting of the Rural Sociological Society. The papers were titled "Quality of Rural Life: Assessing the Structure and Availability of Services and Amenities in Rural Areas," and "Small Farm Modernization: A Comparative Look at Agricultural Innovations in the Andean Region of South America."

Dr. Donald Haight, assistant professor of professional specialization, was chairman of the government relations committee at the recent leadership workshop of the American School Counselor Association. Dr. Haight was also among ten leaders of the counseling profession from throughout the United States who discussed legislation affecting counselors during an American Personnel and Guidance Association Meeting at the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. William Hartnett, professor of mathematics, was appointed an honorary research associate in the Foundations and Philosophy of Science Unit at McGill University for the 1974-75 academic year. Dr. Hartnett delivered his paper on the "Mathematization of Analysis" at the January Annual Meeting of the American Mathematical Society. He is now serving a three-year term as Institutional Representative of the Mathematical Association of America.

After serving two years as secretary of the New York State African Studies Association, Dr. Thomas Henriksen, associate professor of history, was elected deputy chairperson of the association at its May meeting. Dr. Henriksen has been appointed to the editorial board of the African Studies Review and is in charge of history manuscripts. He has also been made a faculty research associate of Syracuse University's Program for Eastern African Studies. Dr. Henriksen received an $1,800 fellowship from the Research Foundation of State University for research on Mozambique: A History. On June 11, Dr. Henriksen spoke on the incoming government of Mozambique before the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee.

Dr. Charles Herod, coordinator and assistant professor of Afro-American Studies, was one of 25 faculty members from schools throughout the United States who were chosen to attend a summer Institute in the Humanities at Earlham College in Indiana.

Dr. Kenneth Hoeltzel, associate professor of education, conducted a three-day workshop on test construction at SUNY Delhi in late May. With Norman Teator, assistant professor of education and Eileen Wardner, associate professor of education, Dr. Hoeltzel conducted a three-day workshop in August for fifty teachers in Gretna, Louisiana. The workshop focused on humanizing approaches to education, improving evaluation, and practical approaches to individual instruction.

Dr. Young Jang, associate professor of economics, presented his paper, "A Study of Maple Syrup Industry in New York State — An Econometric Approach," to the April meeting of the New York State Economic Association.

William Klock, associate professor of art, received a $1,400 grant from the SUNY Research Foundation to create clay constructions inspired by landscapes and skylscapes.

Dr. Roy S. Malpass, associate professor of behavioral science, travelled to Bogota, Colombia, on a grant from the National Science Foundation to speak on progress in the field of cross-cultural psychology before the XV Interamerican Congress of Psychology.

Dr. James Mapstone, associate professor of sociology, received an $1,800 SUNY Research Foundation Fellowship for his study titled "They Stay Behind: Non-Migrating High School Graduates."

Dr. John T. Middleton, associate professor of home economics, has been elected president of the Northeastern Region of the National Alliance for Family Health.

Dr. Dixon Miyauchi, professor of history, was a member of a panel on "Problems of Teaching Pre-Modern Asian Cultures" at the Upstate New York Conference on Asian Studies, held at Cornell University.

Dr. Charles Mitchell, associate professor of education, presented two papers at the National Convention of the National Science Teachers Association. His contributions were titled "Predator-Prey Relationship: Mythology or Reality," and "Bird Banding: An Ecologically Educational Experience."

Dr. Richard Moore, professor of biophysics, received a total of $76,900 from the National Institute of Health ($65,000) and the Heart Association of Eastern New York ($11,900) to study the effects of insulin on the sodium pump enzyme system.

Dr. George Pasti, professor of history, described a unique set of learning modules on Contemporary China before the 27th Annual Meeting of the Association for Asian Studies.

Dr. Arnold L. Rheingold, associate professor of chemistry, delivered a paper describing his research into "Novel Organoarsenic Oligomers and Polymers" before the Seventh International Conference on Organometallic Chemistry. The research is funded by the Office of Naval Research.

William Robbins, associate professor of art, had two oil paintings accepted for the Eighth Annual Marietta College International Exhibition of Painting and Sculpture.

Dr. Douglas Skopp, assistant professor of history, was the commentator on three papers concerning education in 19th century Europe at the Duquesne Forum held in Pittsburgh. Dr. Skopp presented his paper, "On the Bottom Rung: the Volksschule Teacher in Nineteenth Century Germany," before a meeting of the American Historical Association. Dr. Skopp has received a $400 grant from the Interuniversity Centre for European Studies (Montreal) to pursue a computerized analysis of Ph.D. productivity in German universities before World War I. That study was the subject of an article which Dr. Skopp coauthored for the Interuniversity Centre's Newsletter. Skopp's study of "Prussian Primary School Administration, 1840-1970," earned a $1,600 grant and fellowship from the SUNY Research Foundation.

David Truax, director of admissions, chaired a program titled, "What's Happening to the Transfer Student," during the middle states conference of the College Entrance Examination Board.

Dr. Stanton Warren, assistant professor of economics, has been elected president of the New York State Economics Association.

Dr. Ann Zlelinski, associate professor of art, received a $1,200 grant from the SUNY Research Foundation for her study of "The Cloistermf Silos: Aspects of Design and Decoration."

STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK, COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCE, PLATTSBURGH, NEW YORK

The Office of College Relations publishes these Faculty Notes periodically to keep faculty informed of their colleagues' professional activities. Items of interest should be forwarded to the College news bureau.

SPEECHES/PRESENTATIONS/PUBLIC SERVICE

Dr. Adnan Abu-Ghazaleh, professor of history, has been chosen education editor for the Palestine Encyclopedia, an independent firm from Damascus, Syria.

Margaret Ambry, instructor of home economics, has been elected president of the board of directors of Planned Parenthood Association of Clinton County.
